OUR HISTORY

The Family Strength Program began as a grant funded program provided by Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). The grant was awarded in 2013 and the program became self-sustaining in 2018.

TRAUMA INFORMED

We guide families as they heal. Trauma can be defined as an event or series of events that cause emotional distress reactions. Trauma can be events such as injury, death or loss of someone close, separation of family, exposure to violence, experiencing abuse, or natural disaster.

Historical trauma such as forced relocation, colonization, loss of language, and boarding schools can continue to impact the future generations of those who experienced such events.

FOCUS

Our focus is to collaborate with those involved in the child's care using a wraparound approach. The program is focused on individual values and strives to meet the client where they are at in life. The Family Strength Program is community and school-based to provide services needed to heal. We strive to be strength-based, allowing you take the lead and knowing what works for your family.

SERVICES OFFERED

- Case Management
- Mental Health Therapy
- Mentoring/Skills Building
- Culturally specific activities and resources

"The way we talk to our children, becomes their inner voice."

REFERRAL PROCESS

Referrals of Yellowhawk service eligible patients can be made to our program by filling out the referral form. Patients and parents of youth under 14 must be aware of referral being made to the program. The referral paperwork will be reviewed by program staff and eligibility will be determined and then patients will be contacted.
